

Train, village and nostalgia are all part of Christmas joy

By JAMES COOK

At Christmastime a lot of families will have a train set that is part of the decorations. That train set usually encircles the bottom of the Christmas tree. But for Jim Dennis, the train set he uses is a little more elaborate than that.

Dennis, the owner of Stanton Electronics and Dennis Entertainment, has set up not just a train set around the tree in his electronic store on Main Street, but a complete village. Some parts of it have a direct correlation with Powell County.

"I have a replica of the old Clay City Bank Building, the old Powell County Courthouse and the cabin at Gladie Creek," Dennis said as he watched the train go around the tracks. "I even have a replica, sort of, of the (Nada) tunnel. I picked the rocks out for it from a creek bed."

The village has a drive in theater, using a monitor that often displays pictures of children who had their photo taken with Santa at the store late last month. There are several churches in the village, much like the county has over 30. There is even homage to volunteer firefighters, police officers and emergency workers. To go along with a fire department structure, there is a wreck on one of the "streets" with emergency personnel and vehicles on scene.

The village and tracks are set up on 16 foot pieces of wood that are painted to look like city streets. In all he has over 70 buildings which also include shops, restaurants, a hospital and a construction site. There are figurines of people throughout, as well as cars, trucks and other vehicles.

"It took us about a month to put it all together, spending time after hours and some times working on it when we should have been doing other things," Dennis joked. He said he could not take all the credit as his son Jim, mother Ladonna, his sister Sonya and an employee, Lois, all worked to make the village and train set up a success.

The table tops, with holes drilled for the structures electric cords to go through, was constructed by Dennis and his son. There are three power strips with 20 outlets a piece helping to illuminate the buildings and run the train. Car batteries help to keep the lights on tip of the bridge going. "I have a

Friends continue free Christmas Dinner tradition

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Christmas holiday is one where friends and family get together to express love for one another. So for Jackie and Eloise Rose, the entire community seems to be their family.

For the 13th in a row, the Rose family and their friends, some who come from as far away as Anderson County, will share their love for their fellowman by once again providing the Community Friends Christmas Dinner.

The annual Christmas Day event will be held again at the Clay City Elementary this Sunday at 11:30 a.m.. The dinner is available for everyone.

No income-based qualifications are required.

"We just want everyone to be with friends during the holiday," Eloise Rose said in an interview. "This is our way of celebrating and enjoying fellowship."

The Roses became quite aware of the need for fellowship 14 years ago. That is when they lost their only child, Scott, in a tragic traffic accident. That first Christmas following his death was miserable for the family. But then they decided to make sure that no one had to be alone or miserable that time of year. So they and many of their friends took on the task of providing the dinner.

The event grew from cooking in their own

kitchen the first year and serving 75 people to now using the school and fixing about 350 meals. Many of those are sent out via volunteer drivers to those who may not be able to get out.

As for leftovers, in years past the Roses have been known to send those to the Powell County Jail and the Dessie Scott Children's Home in Pine Ridge.

But how do they afford to feed so many? "Donations," Jackie said. "We get a lot of donations to help us and we appreciate it all."

It is that kind of love that helps the Community Friends make sure that the love is spread around to everyone.

Delivery is available for shut-ins only. Call before Dec. 25 to arrange for delivery. For more information call 606-663-0244 or 606-663-2927.

Two escape from PCDC

Manhunt is on for inmates facing charges in 6 counties

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A man hunt is on for two inmates who escaped from the Powell County Detention Center last Thursday morning and may have stolen a car to use for their getaway. Both men are facing burglary, theft and persistent felon charges in at least six counties, including Powell.

Jail officials say that Phillip T. Wells, 26, of Richmond, and Joshua Wayne Abner, 24 of Waco, escaped through an air vent that led them to an access door on the roof. The incident happened at approximately 2 a.m.

Jail officers were notified by fellow inmates of Wells and Abner that the two were escaping. It appears that a ceiling panel was pulled loose and the two men climbed through it. There were nine other inmates in the cell at the time, but none of them attempted to escape.

"The inmates started trying to get guards attention and told them that the two were escaping right then," Powell County Jailer Travis Crabtree said. Local and state police units, along with deputies were called to the jail to search the roof and the grounds. However, both men had already left the area.

Police began to fan out throughout Stanton to look for the men. Meanwhile at 4:53 a.m. Powell County Dispatch received a call that a car had been stolen. The car, a 1993, white Honda Accord, four door with license tag number 428-CLE, was reportedly taken from Baker's Apartments across from the Mt. View Drive-In on East College Avenue.

Police say that vehicle belonged to Eric Fountain.

Police are not sure if the car theft was indeed perpetrated by Wells and Abner, but are investigating the theft as if they may have been involved.

Another vehicle on Greenway Drive, just literally around the corner from where the car was stolen, reportedly was broken into. Stanton Police say that the steering column was busted as if someone tried to steal the car. Another report came about a possible third vehicle, but the owner of that vehicle has not called back to let officers take a report.

Random acts of kindness touch hearts

By KEN SIMON
Special to the Times

It's been said that good things come to those who wait. Well if waiting is the key to good things, a group of students and staff from Bowen Elementary didn't have to wait long for good things to come their way.

As part of Missy Case's moderate to severe disability student's Community Based Instructional (CBI) fieldtrip to the Winchester Frisch's Restaurant, the group of 17 students and staff sat down for their special lunch outing. It appeared to be just a normal day for the group as they were embarking on another of their monthly

CBI trips.

However, what made this trip so special was that before the group had finished eating their kid's meals of cheeseburgers and spaghetti, along with a few trips to the salad bar, was that an anonymous couple who had been sitting nearby observing the group with curious glimpses and smiles; paid for the entire lunch cost.

In awe and amazement, the group reflected on what had just happened. Had someone really paid for the entire group of 17 people's lunch?

With teary eyes, smiles of joyous surprise, and utter astonishment, the group could not believe what had just occurred. It appeared that the spirit of Christmas was alive and well.

The group set out 12 days later to return to Frisch's for another luncheon. Same group of students and staff, same restaurant, different seating arrangement, same result!

Everyone had ordered their meals and was sipping on their drinks and enjoying quiet conversations, when the waitress appeared at the head of the table and announced, "Christmas is already here!"

As eyes gazed upon her, she began to explain how two gentlemen, who had held the doors open for the group at the entrance of the restaurant, paid for the entire bill. As jaws dropped wide open, and elevated voices carried throughout the restaurant, the group of 17 breathed a unified gasp and could not believe what had happened.

Had this truly occurred twice in a 12 day span? Had two more anonymous individuals paid for the groups' lunch?

Sitting in disbelief, the group pondered on how blessed they were to have experienced this the first time; and now twice. Instead, the group had received a double portion blessing. "God is good" and "We are blessed" was heard from several voices around the table.

"As a teacher of students with moderate to severe disabilities, we often run into obstacles in the community. So this was such a delight to have someone care and appreciate what we are doing," Case explained.

It is true...God is good and blessings come in many forms, especially for this group of students and staff from Bowen Elementary. It's just that sometimes you don't have to wait long for those good things to happen.

So if you are the kind-hearted anonymous givers who blessed this group, they hope you get this extended heart-felt "Thank You".

Clay City man charged in deadly accident back in jail

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

A Powell County man who has been charged with murder and DUI is back in jail facing a bond violation and burglary charges in Lexington.

Brian P. Epperson, 31 of Clay City, was arrested on a bench warrant for failing to appear for a drug test as was one of the requirements of his release on bond back on Nov. 25. He was arrested last Friday by the Powell County Sheriff's Department. According to court records pre-trial services filed a report with the Powell District Court stating that Epperson failed to appear for his drug test on Dec. 9. The court records indicate that a bench warrant was issued and no bond would be set for the violation.

Epperson was driving a Ford F-250 on Nov. 14 on Hardwick's Creek Road when he allegedly crossed the center line and struck a Chevrolet S-10 driven by Donald Tharp. Tharp was pronounced dead at the scene. A passenger in Tharp's truck, Constance Puckett, was flown to the UK medical Center for treatment and later released. Epperson was charged with murder, DUI and assault.

At the time of the accident Epperson reportedly failed field sobriety tests, including one allegedly used by state police and motor vehicle enforcement officers to determine if someone may be on medications but may have more than therapeutic levels in their bloodstream.

Police reports indicate that Epperson "displayed glassy, bloodshot eyes, was unsteady on his feet and had slurred speech."

A search warrant of Epperson's truck involved in the accident revealed that he also had a prescription bottle for Promethazine (Phenergan, used to treat allergy symptoms) and two bottles of Alprazolam (Xanax). Both bottles were empty according to police, but did not indicate anything further about the medications.

Epperson also reportedly at first told officers he was not under the influence and was taken to the Powell County Clinic for a blood draw. Later he reportedly told officers he had "consumed a Xanax prior to operating the vehicle."

Epperson's original bond was set at $250,000 cash, but reduced to $10,000 cash by the Powell District Court. It was paid on Nov. 25 and he was released. However, it is believed his case will be sent to the grand jury.

To add to his legal woes, Epperson has been charged with burglary second degree-forced entry of a residence in Fayette County. According to the warrant issued in that case Epperson is accused of entering a home belonging to Michael Sweeney sometime between Nov. 1 and Nov. 23. Lexington Police forensic units allegedly found Epperson's fingerprints on a microwave that had been unplugged and "tampered with in an attempt to remove it from the home" according to the warrant. A bathroom mirror was also reported missing.

Police say they were able to match the fingerprint based on a "positive identification match" and verified it through the Automated Fingerprint Identification System (AFIS). The police statements also indicate that neither Sweeney or his estranged wife knew Epperson or "have ever heard" of him. His bond for that offense has been set at $7,500 full cash.

Brian Moore (far left, white arrow over head) took off running from police after the weapon he used to stab George Jarrell was found. Officers are still looking for him.

Police still searching for stabbing suspect

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

An altercation over an apartment resulted in one man being stabbed, one man being arrested on bench warrants and one man on the run. The bizarre incident took place in Clay City last Thursday afternoon in front of the M & S Pawn Shop.

Police were called to the store after receiving calls of a fight. When they arrived they found George Jarrell had been stabbed in the hand. Jarrell told them that Brian Moore had injured him with a crow bar. An ambulance was summoned to the scene.

As police tried to piece together what exactly occurred it was discovered that the incident began elsewhere.

"It started at the EZ Stop and then ended at the pawn shop," Powell County Deputy Robert "Rog" Mathews said. "Apparently the other group was renting off of Jarrell and he kicked them out. That is supposedly what the problem was."

Meanwhile officers found Stephen Miller, 23 of Jeffersonville, in one of the vehicles. Miller had bench warrants out of Clark and Powell counties and was placed under arrest. He was lodged in the Powell County Detention Center under a $791.50 bond.

Police could not find the crow bar allegedly used and were unsure if they could charge Moore with anything. However, a bystander found the crow bar near the back of the pawn shop. "We really wasn't sure what we were going to do, we really didn't have much on him (Moore)," Mathews said. "But when he saw that crow bar, he took off running."

Moore ran across Main Street and headed down 7th Street toward the sewer plant. Powell County Deputy Derek Townsend and Stanton

Police Sgt. James Watson chased him on foot, as other officers began to converge on the area in cruisers. Townsend did grab Moore's coat, but he slipped out of it and kept running.

"I grabbed it, he threw his arms straight back and slipped right out of the coat," Townsend said. "We chased him to the river and he went across the river."

Officers from local and state law enforcement agencies searched both sides of the river. Officers also checked out Moore's residence, which is in Clay City.

"He went from nothing to now possibly being charged with assault and fleeing and evading police," Mathews said Friday morning. Police are still searching for Moore and ask if anyone has information on his whereabouts to call Powell County Dispatch's non-emergency number at 606-663-4116.

Clay City woman and former boyfriend are charged in Clark County murder

TIMES STAFF REPORT

A Clay City woman has been charged with complicity to commit murder and complicity to burglary first as her former boyfriend faces murder charges in Winchester's latest homicide.

Sheena Tipton, 26, was arraigned in Clark District Court on Monday after she was arrested on Friday. Tipton and her former boyfriend, Percy Hargrove III, 26, of Georgetown, are accused in the death of David Ingram last Wednesday.

Tipton was allegedly the girlfriend of Ingram and a former girlfriend to Hargrove. Police interviewed her at least twice, according to published reports in the Winchester Sun. Police do not think she was in Winchester when the shooting occurred.

However they believe there is some evidence

Sheena Tipton

indicating she may have been linked to the shooting. Both suspects entered not guilty pleas.

According to police and reports, Hargrove forced his way into Ingram's home early last Wednesday. An altercation ensued and Ingram was allegedly shot by Hargrove.

Ingram tried to get away and his body was found under a neighbor's back deck.

Hargrove, who was a Scott County football standout, was arrested and charged with murder, first-degree burglary and tampering with physical evidence later that day.

According to news reports from the Sun and Lexington Herald-Leader both Tipton and Hargrove were appointed a public defender. Preliminary hearings, which will determine whether there is enough probable cause for the charges, have been scheduled for Jan. 4.

Both are still in custody at the Clark County Detention Center.

Fiscal court fighting synthetic drugs

By KAYLA MAYS
Times Reporter

The Powell County Fiscal Court held their regular meeting last Tuesday night. It was the first meeting for judge-elect James Anderson at the helm. It was short and sweet, but the point.

The court approved a resolution to adopt the 2011 Bluegrass Add Regional Hazard Mitigation plan as the official hazard mitigation plan of the county of Powell pending FEMA. EMS Coordinator Danny McCormick explained that this was to provide help to the county in case of a disaster.

The court also approved an ordinance regarding the prohibition of the sale, possession, or delivery of synthetic cocaine, and synthetic drugs. Powell County Deputy and School Resource Officer Kevin Babcock explained this would benefit the children due to synthetic drugs being easily obtained and purchased at tobacco stores.

"They can take an illegal drug, change or take out one molecule and they say is now different and legal," Babcock told the court members. A second reading will be held next month.

The judge executive's office will also have new hours of operation. According to Anderson, who then informed the court of the new office hours, that will be in effect. Those hours are Monday 8-5, Tuesday and Wednesday 7:30-4:30, Thursday 8-12, and Friday 8-4:30.

Anderson also announced to the court that due to the drug testing policy stating no elected officials are to be tested he wanted to voluntarily put his name in for random drug testing.

Those tests have already begun and was part of a policy change developed by the late Jim Potts. Every county employee is set to be tested and then random tests are to held each month.

ESCAPE: Manhunt continues

area about the size of a mattress," Crabtree said immediately after the escape. "The fiscal court needs to help us make sure this don't happen again."

The escape seems to part of a construction flaw that was found at the jail in October. On Oct. 4, Jason Taulbee escaped from the jail by lifting a ceiling panel that had not been bolted down. No one knew about the problem until that escape. Taulbee, who was being held on kidnapping, assault and escape charges when he bolted. He also climbed to an access door and got away. Taulbee was arrested a week later at a home in Mount Sterling after a short foot chase.

At that time the loose ceiling panels were reportedly secured so that they could not be lifted up. But according to one source, this most recent escape revealed that the panels could be pulled downward. Crabtree has reportedly brought people in to do some welding to make sure the panels can not be manipulated for any future attempts. Due to security reasons Crabtree has not revealed what work is or is not being done to make sure escapes do not happen again. It is believed that some of that work may include completing the fencing all around the jail.

"The judge (James Anderson) and fiscal court has been super about helping us since the escape," Crabtree said by telephone Monday afternoon. "They've been real good to work with and have been trying to help. I really appreciate it."

The jail had some renovations and work completed back in 2006. However, Crabtree, who was elected to the jailer's position in 2010, was unaware of it. It is alleged that some of the panels were not bolted down when that work was completed.

"I've been in contact with the contractors who did that work and they have been really nice and good to work with," Crabtree said. "They have offered to help in anyway possible to rectify the situation."

Wells and Abner are facing charges in Powell, Madison, Pendleton, Perry, Hardin and Laurel counties. Those charges range from theft, burglary, criminal mischief and even being a persistent felon. Both men were serving time for burglary.

The Powell County charges stem from a break-in of a building at the Slade Subway. That happened in December 2010. Both had just recently been indicted for that break-in. Their bonds were set at $75,000 full cash.

State police are investigating the escape. Wells is described as a white male, 5'11", 185 pounds, brown hair and hazel eyes. Abner is described as a white male, 6'01", 170 pounds, red hair and green eyes. Abner is originally from Jackson County.

"I've heard that the state police are just minutes behind them as they were reportedly seen in Richmond recently," Crabtree reported.

State police ask that if you see the two men or the stolen vehicle that you contact Trooper Joe Veeneman at the Kentucky State Police Post 8 at 606-784-4127.

Guest Column: What does the Bible say about how to help the poor?

By DAVID BROWN
Guest Columnist

(Editors Note: This article is not about our political affiliation it's about who we are as Christians. It was recently used as a bible study and has a lot to say about how we should treat the poor. Not just at this time of year but everyday.)

Micah 6:8 He hath shewed thee, O man, what is good; and what doth the LORD require of thee, but to do justly, and to love mercy, and to walk humbly with thy God? Acts 11:26b And the disciples were called Christians first in Antioch. As Christians what does God expect out of us when it comes to helping the poor.

Lets first establish the truth that there are poor saints and even needy Christians. Romans 15: 25 But now I go unto Jerusalem to minister unto the saints. 26 For it hath pleased them of Macedonia and Achaia to make a certain contribution for the poor saints which are at Jerusalem. James 2:5 Hearken, my beloved brethren, Hath not God chosen the poor of this world rich in faith, and heirs of the kingdom which he hath promised to them that love him? Luke 6:20 And he lifted up his eyes on his disciples, and said, Blessed be ye poor: for yours is the kingdom of God. Zeph.

3:12 I will also leave in the midst of thee an afflicted and poor people, and they shall trust in the name of the Lord.

When you get the opportunity do good to the poor.

Mark 14:7 For ye have the poor with you always, and whensoever ye will ye may do them good: but me ye have not always.

Now that we have established the truth that there are poor people here, and around the world. What does the Bible say about our duty, our attitude, and our responsibility?

If we want our righteous to remain forever (Give to the Poor)

2 Corinthians 9:9 As it is written, He hath dispersed abroad; he hath given to the poor: his righteousness remaineth for ever.

Want to be remembered by God then remember the poor.

Galatians 2:10 Only they would that we should remember the poor; the same which I also was forward to do.

Do not show favor to the rich and despise the poor? It's the rich that harms you. Why do you despise the poor?

James 2:6 But ye have despised the poor. Do not rich men oppress you, and draw you before the judgment seats?

When you make a feast invite the poor. Don't show partiality.

Luke 14:13 But when thou makest a feast, call the poor, the maimed, the lame, the blind: Notice below how the poor man's words are not heard because he is poor. Eccl 9:15-16 Now there was found in it a poor wise man, and he by his wisdom delivered the city; yet no man remembered that same poor man. 16 Then said I, Wisdom is better than strength: nevertheless the poor man's wisdom is despised, and his words are not heard.

How true today: The poor have no honor today even if they are wise enough to deliver a city.

The poor are mocked scorned and ridiculed today. I may have been guilty myself. It's popular to talk about the housing projects, unwed mothers, those who receive food stamps, and energy assistance, aid to dependent children, etc. I know some people take advantage and even are deceitful to obtain benefits. I believe the Bible did plead the cause of the poor in this bible study.

Have you noticed the poor even down each other?

Prov 14:20 The poor is hated even of his own : but the rich hath many friends. Prov 19:4 Wealth maketh many friends; but the poor is separated from his neighbour. Prov 22:22 Rob not the poor, because he is poor: neither oppress the afflicted in the gate: 23 For the Lord will plead their cause

Our wealth can cause us to miss salvation. It's easy to put our trust in our wealth. How about the story of the rich man who was told to sell what he had and give to the poor. He went away sad. He just couldn't give up his wealth, not even for salvation. Matt 19:21 Jesus said unto him, If thou wilt be perfect, go and sell that thou hast, and give to the poor, and thou shalt have treasure in heaven: and come and follow me. 22 But when the young man heard that saying, he went away sorrowful: for he had great possessions.

We are talking about our duty, attitude and responsibility toward the poor.

When you think about it 'All is well'

MIKE REED
County Ag.
Agent

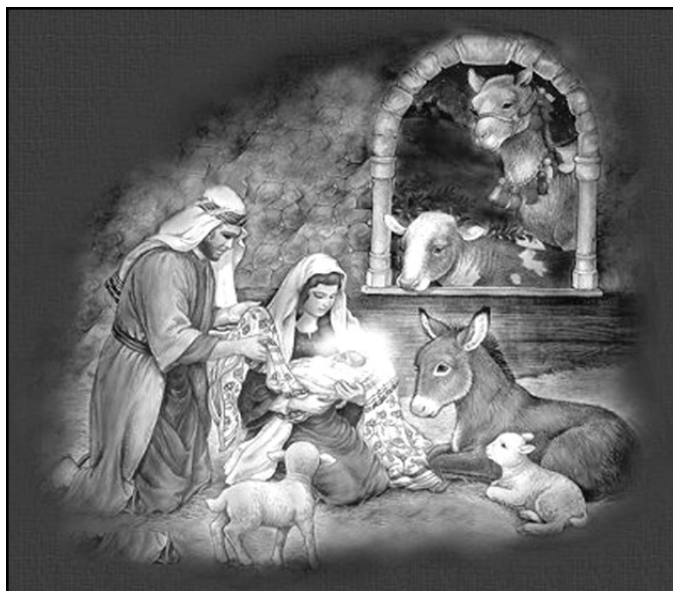

As I sit here in my chair in my office on Monday morning, I hear the song: "All is Well" by Michael W. Smith. It is one of my favorite Christmas songs that I listen to each year. It is soothing and I can just hear the angels sing when this song is being played. But as the song states, I know that here on earth this Christmas, all is not well for many. Even out in the chicken house, things are not going well. My wife's chickens decided to all go on strike when the first cold spell hit back in early November. So for the past two months, she has had to buy eggs, while still feeding expensive scratch grains and laying mash to her chickens. Why feed laying mash to chickens which are not laying? Do you also realize how many eggs you use during the Christmas season? Each pecan pie takes three if not four eggs, not to mention the cakes, cookies and other things you have to bake during the holiday.

If the problem with no eggs was not enough this month, another chicken house dilemma surfaced recently, as well.

Back in September, the county agent bought his wife two beautiful Rhode Island Red pullets and three gorgeous Dominique (Dominecker) pullets. They were left-overs from Easter chickens, which were not taken home for that holiday. They have been a nice addition to the Cane Creek aviary, but have been very hungry and pretty aggressive. We thought these would make a good addition to go with our other four hens and two roosters which we started out with back in the spring (please refer back to the Red Lobster chicken story, back in March).

As the chickens grew, these five have started to really fill out, not only in height, but in weight. But last week, real changes started to occur. We noticed a great deal of fighting in the pen and the three doms started to fly out of the pen each morning.

They also had seemed to have a brighter, larger comb and tail feathers seemed to appear overnight. Last week as they "flew the coop" so to speak, we also noticed more noise around the chicken house.

Seemingly overnight, our pretty laying hens had turned into roosters! The crowing and fighting has just begun! Now we have five hens and seven roosters! I have tried to encourage my wife to put chicken and dumplings on the Christmas menu, but she says she can't eat her babies.

Anyone needing a few good roosters at a reasonable rate for Christmas, please let me know.

On a positive note, all the other creatures at the Reed farm are doing well. Jack the donkey has been entertaining us with his new tobacco stick he found in the barn, marching up and down the pasture like a field commander!

The three cows are eating hay like it was the dead of winter, and a new cat, the wife named Velvateen, showed up on our porch this week, - another new mouth to feed. To round it all out, our old dog showed back up on the porch last Friday after a full week of romance up the creek!

All is well with most of the animals, but I realize that all may not be well with everyone this Christmas. While many of us will eat too much this week, many homeless children may go hungry.

Many will spend the holiday waiting for test results, or many will be reeling from chemotherapy and radiation, battling a disease that was not with them last Christmas.

Homes have been broken due to financial ruin, many have lost their jobs in a sinking economy, and our county is still under attack from drugs and alcohol abuse.

But, with all the gloom and doom and bad news we hear on the news each night, we know that the baby in the manger is still with us today and that baby is the only hope we have in this world. Through Him, we can have Peace, in a dark and desperate world.

I will finish my article this week with the last verse of the song I heard this morning.

*"All is Well, All is Well,
Lift up your voice and sing.*

*Born is now Emmanuel, Born is our Lord and Savior
Sing Alleluia, sing Alleluia..
All is Well".*

To all of you and yours, "Merry Christmas" and may His blessings surround you this week!

Water turned off at Vernon Manor

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

Residents of Vernon Manor had a rude surprise Tuesday morning. Clay City water workers turned off the water to the entire apartment complex.

"They came up this morning and just turned it off," resident Dorothy Centers told the Times when she called to report the problem. "You want a good story, here's one. Its close to Christmas and none of us have any water."

According to Clay City Clerk Stacey Curtis the turn off came because the apartment complex owners have not paid the water bill.

"They are often late when they do pay and they never pay the late fees," Curtis said. "The council has made it clear that the turn off date is the 20th of each month and we have tried to work with Winterwood. But there is not much we can do. We are supposed to treat everyone the same. We really hate doing it, especially this close to Christmas."

Winterwood Property Management is based in Lexington. They also manage Powell Village, Pinecreek Apartments and Stanton Place.

"We have contacted them and they are supposed to get a check to us today," Curtis said.

The Times called the Winterwood offices. However, the parties that handle Vernon Manor were "out to lunch."

At 1 p.m. Curtis called the Times to report that Winterwood had paid their bill. The apartment was set to have the water turned back on by 2 p.m.

The Memory Gifts

By SARAH BLOOM
Times Lifestyle
Columnist

I want to begin this column by wishing all of you a very Merry Christmas. I hope that you are able to be with the ones that you care about and love and that the true meaning of this joyous season is evident in your lives. Throughout the year I am blessed to be able to write about my life, my children and my beliefs. Though some may not enjoy it I am thankful for the ones that do. I truly enjoy writing and having the privilege of sharing that passion is a great blessing to me. From the bottom of my heart I thank you for allowing me to be a small part of your lives. Christmas, above any other time of the year, evokes the sweetest of memories. I can think back and grasp some so vivid that it feels as though I could reach out and touch them. My parents always made this time of year special for my brother and me. I am not referring to any gift we may have received. What made the holiday so memorable were the experiences of family and celebration. Christmas plays, homemade goodies, exchanging gifts with school friends, or a simple smell are what make memories come alive. As I child I awoke at my grandmother's house on Christmas morning every year, and every year there was a wonderful gift sitting before the tree from Santa, but those gifts are not what I remember most. No, most often when I think of Christmas at my granny's I think of that worn and used saucepan that I had set out in front of the tree the night before. You see we did not use stockings at my granny's house. Santa visited our house on Christmas Eve "Eve" which meant we opened gifts at home on Christmas Eve morning then spent that night at my grandmother's. This meant Santa visited me twice as a child much to my delight. Creeping into the living room on those glorious Christmas mornings I would quickly check my saucepan to see what had been left, though in truth I always knew. Santa faithfully left fruit, nuts, hard candies and the occasional chocolate. It wasn't much, but to a little girl with a huge imagination it was like handing me a golden apple. Another favorite memory I have of Christmas' past was getting homemade goodies from friends and neighbors. I would anxiously wait for those colorful plastic or tin containers that I knew held the most delicious cookies, fudge and special sweets. They were definitely worth waiting the whole year through for. One year in particular I can remember that our neighbor gave us a container with chocolate pieces that had been molded to look like presents and other Christmas items. Though in truth they were just melted down chocolate chips, but I thought they were the greatest thing ever. With the tough economic times we are living in I know that a lot of families are hard pressed to provide gifts for their children and families. Thankfully there are organizations and generous and dedicated people out there who try their best to ensure everyone has a happy Christmas. But I hope that we all remember that gifts are nice but they are not what children are going to remember when they are grown. Though they may think that the world will end if they don't get the toy they asked for that seemingly grand gift will be all but forgotten by Valentine's Day. What they will truly remember are the cookies that you took the time to make with them, or when you told the legend of the mistletoe. Maybe their fondest memory will be when you sat beside them and watched a Christmas Carol or when you proudly watched from the audience while they portrayed their best Joseph. Maybe they will treasure your careful lesson on how to make a rope chain for the Christmas tree or the time you loaded everyone in to the car just to drive around and look at the beautifully decorated homes. Their best memory could be something as simple as an old saucepan filled to the top with some fruit and nuts. It does not take money to make memories. It takes love, selflessness, and dedication. Our Lord and Savior was born in a barn. He had no great belongings, but his parents loved Him. He was the greatest Christmas present this world has ever or will ever know. That is one thing we should all remember. Merry Christmas and may God bless you and your family this glorious season.

Backpack Program helps kids on weekends

By SARAH BLOOM
Times Columnist

At Christmastime the spirit of giving seems to be evident in every life. People appear to be more willing to help one another out during the most generous time of the year. Some, however, have found a way to be giving the whole year through. For a few years now the Stanton and Bowen Elementary Schools have been implementing the "Backpack Program". This program is designed to help those children at risk or in need by sending home extra food on the weekends. Each child receives enough food to supply two breakfasts and two lunches. The food is sent home as discreetly as possible in an effort not to single out any child. The items for the program are supplied by the local Food Pantry.

This year Clay City Elementary has also joined the program. After only a three week period they are already serving 93 children. Bowen services 40 children and Stanton Elementary has 25 children in their program. Clay City Elementary Family Resource Center Director Gary Morton, when asked how he compiled his list of recipients said that he went by the Needs Assessment sheets he sends home at the first of every school year. Families complete the surveys and return them to the FRC office. Once Morton compiled his list of students he had to send home a permission slip for each child in order to be able to supply them with the extra food. The Backpack Program sends students home with easy fix foods such as noodles, microwavable mac-n-cheese, cereal bars, pop tarts, juices, etc. The food is supplied by the Food Bank which has been getting some much needed extra help from the participants of the county Drug Court. Members have been actively collecting food items for several weeks. They have brought in items on their own, collected in donation baskets placed in the court house and in the Drug Court office and also by hosting a "Snack Drive" outside of Kroger on December 4. Over 15 Drug Court participants helped with the collection. They set up outside of the Kroger doors and asked customers if they would like to donate a food item to their cause throughout the day. Case Specialist Melissa McIntosh commented, "At the snack drive we were just amazed at how many people donated. It was our first time contributing and helping out the Food Pantry but we would really like to do it once or twice more throughout the year." The Backpack Program has not only been proven to benefit those students who may need extra help, but it has also become a way in which those who are trying to get their lives back on track can benefit the future of their community.

ENCOURAGING WORD: A SIGNIFICANT REMINDER

Howard Coop
Guest Columnist

village are known as Shepherds' Fields. Tradition tells us that, for centuries, shepherds have tended sheep in those rolling fields. Those

On a beautiful November afternoon as the sun was sinking in the western sky, a group of visitors to the Holy Land stood silently in Bethlehem and looked eastward toward the village of Beit Sahur. That little village, named for Ashur who was the father of Tekoa, is about a mile east of Bethlehem, and the rolling fields around the sheep were not ordinary sheep; without blemish, they were special sheep and more valuable than others. Shepherds raised them for a specific purpose: they were to be sacrificed on the altar of the temple in Jerusalem. We have the record that, on that night of nights when Jesus was born in a stable in Bethlehem of Judea, shepherds were keeping watch over their flocks of sheep in those fields, but that watch was suddenly and dramatically interrupted. An angel appeared to them, and they were terrified. Then the angel said to the shepherds, "Do not be afraid. I bring you good news of great joy that will be for all people. Today in the town of David (another name for Bethlehem) a Savior has been born to you; he is Christ the Lord. This will be a sign to you: You will find a baby wrapped in cloths and lying in a manger." Then, leaving their flocks untended in the fields, that which was most valuable to them, the shepherds "hurried off" to Bethlehem "and found Mary and Joseph, and the baby, who was lying in the manger." Christmas, the celebration of the birth of Jesus in Bethlehem of Judea, is a significant reminder that there are some things in life more important than valuable possessions. Like the valuable sheep of the shepherds in the fields around Beit Sahur, some things that seem valuable can be left without significant loss, and life may be better.

KSP ask motorists to 'Leave More Space'

The KSP Commercial Vehicle Enforcement (CVE) Division kicked off the 2012 Ticketing Aggressive Cars and Trucks (TACT) campaign today by distributing free safety decals to trucking companies to remind drivers to ‘Leave More Space’ when maneuvering around large trucks. The reflective decals are 18” x 24” and depict a car properly passing a commercial vehicle. The TACT program in a national campaign to crackdown on motorists driving recklessly around commercial trucks and also on truck drivers who violate traffic laws. The KSP CVE Division simultaneously hosted six ‘kick off’ events in each enforcement region of the state. CVE Division Director, Lt. Col. Jack Miniard said that the TACT campaign incorporates enforcement with education in an effort to reduce commercial vehicle related crashes on major highways. “This is a great opportunity for our agency to reach out to both trucking companies and the general public with an educational message that has far reaching potential,” says Miniard.

“No doubt enforcement is key to successfully implementing this program, but we feel that the educational component would be a more effective way to initiate this campaign.” Members of the media were invited to attend the kick off events which included ride-alongs, safety displays, educational booths, and inspection demonstrations. Officers will look for aggressive driving behaviors such as following too close; unsafe lane changes; speeding and not leaving enough space when passing large trucks.

Miniard said that most people simply don't understand the dangers of big-rigs. “A car traveling 80 miles per hour only needs 160 feet to stop,” explained Miniard. “A commercial truck driving at that same rate of speed behind that car would take somewhere between 800 and 1200 feet to stop.” The TACT program is funded and administered through the Federal Motor Carriers Safety Administration (FMCSA). Kentucky joins Alabama, Georgia, Indiana, Montana, Nevada, North Carolina, Oregon, Pennsylvania, Texas and Washington as one of the FMCSA selected states for the TACT project. Crash statistics from KSP indicate that 70 percent of fatal crashes involving large trucks are caused by passenger vehicles. Last year Kentucky had 8,564 crashes involving commercial vehicles resulting in 93 deaths. “For motorists who travel Kentucky interstates each day, a crash involving a tractor trailer can cause extensive travel delays, especially when the crash is fatal for a driver or passengers. We want to reduce travel delays by decreasing the number of crashes between passenger cars and commercial vehicles,” adds Miniard. Citizens can contribute to highway safety by reporting erratic drivers to the Kentucky State Police toll-free at 1-800-222-5555. Callers will remain anonymous and should give a description of the vehicle, location, direction of travel and license number if possible.

Insurers must offer child-only policies

Under a 2010 order from Kentucky Insurance Commissioner Sharon P. Clark, all insurers selling in the commonwealth’s individual health insurance market must offer an annual open enrollment period in January for Kentuckians under age 19. The annual open enrollment was ordered for each January beginning in 2011 and ending in 2013. As part of federal health reform, insurers will not be allowed to deny coverage, regardless of health status, in 2014. Clark took the action after insurers notified the Department of Insurance in 2010 that they planned to cease writing policies on Sept. 23 of that year, the date the federal Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act prohibited companies offering these policies from denying coverage because of an applicant’s pre-existing health condition. At that time, Clark said she was concerned that all Kentucky children who needed a “child-only” policy, even those who were healthy, would have to turn to Kentucky Access, the state’s high-risk pool, placing extra demands on that program. “This was our way of protecting these young Kentuckians while providing a level playing field for insurers,” said Commissioner Clark. “We urge all consumers needing this coverage to take advantage of this window of opportunity.” A list of health insurers required to offer these policies is available at <http://insurance.ky.gov>.

Time for applications for crumb rubber grants

The Energy and Environment Cabinet is accepting grant proposals for projects that promote the use of recycled waste tires for athletic fields, playgrounds and other crumb rubber applications. To a limited degree, the cabinet will also consider funding research and development proposals for experimental practices or technologies that further the statutory purposes of the waste tire program – to protect human health, safety, and the environment – or that will help develop a market for Kentucky waste tires. Approximately $300,000 is available for projects during this grant cycle. Grant funding comes from the Waste Tire Trust Fund, an endowment established in 1998 by the Kentucky General Assembly to receive fees collected from new tire sales. Applications must be received by 4:30 p.m. EST on Jan. 31, 2012, at the Division of Waste Management’s central office in Frankfort. The application and any supporting documentation must be submitted in order for the application to be considered. Pirates take control of district

By
GREG MCINTOSH
Times Sportswriter

The Powell County Pirates have started the season playing hard and winning games. This past week two big district games were slated and Powell met the challenges. The Pirates took a commanding lead in the district, beating both Lee and Estill in basketball action.

The Pirates traveled to Lee County last Tuesday night for their biggest challenge of the season so far. Lee County and their crowd always seem to be ready for the Pirates. This 56th District game would be no different. The Bobcats, the pre-season favorite to win the district.

Both teams started the game with great defensive pressure and points were hard to come by in the early minutes of the game. Lee County took an early two point lead only to see the Pirates storm back to lead by two points with 2:02 left in the first quarter. Ryan Goodwin gave the Pirates a lift off the bench when starters, Jacob Conner and Zach Dennis, had to go to the bench with two fouls each. The Bobcats added free throws and tied the game at 17-17 after the first quarter.

The second quarter saw both teams take the lead and then give it up. With the game tied at 24-24, Powell's Matt Pelfrey scored baskets on three straight trips for the Pirates and Powell led by six points with 2:10 left in the half.

Lee County would rally and score seven unanswered points to retake the lead 31-30. Trey Marcum and Pelfrey both picked up fouls during the final four minutes of the first half and had to go to the bench. Jarod Goodwin and Aaron Townsend came into the game and provided the Pirates with a spark on defense and on the boards. Caleb McCoy also entered the game and gave Austin Monnett a chance to rest for the final push in the first half.

Both teams traded free throws and Lee County led 33-32 with only 10 seconds to play in the first half. Monnett drove the ball into the paint and made a floating layup to end the first half and give Powell the lead 34-33 at halftime. The Powell bench played great in the first half and kept the Pirates in the game.

The starters re-entered the game for the Pirates in the second half and were inspired by the bench play. Powell scored two quick baskets and extended their lead to five points. Powell got a steal and Monnett hit a soft three pointer, after another steal by the Pirates and Jacob Conner hit a three from the wing. The Pirates led by double digits.

Lee County struggled with the Pirates defense and turned the ball over on three straight possessions. Powell scored with great passes by Conner to Zach Dennis on two trips in a row. Lee finally scored their only basket of the quarter with 2:30 to play. Powell outscored Lee 21-2 in the third quarter to take a 55-35 lead.

Both teams played hard in the fourth quarter. Powell extended their lead up to 28 points at one time. Lee County battled back but fell to the Pirates, 73-52. Powell had four players in double figures for the game. Dennis led the way with 20 points, Monnett had 14 points, Pelfrey added 10 points and Ryan Goodwin had 10 points off the bench for the Pirates.

With the energy and confidence from the Lee County win Powell battled Estill County last Friday night. The Engineers came out ready to play and took a quick lead on the Pirates. Powell finally settled into the speed of the game up but trailed 14-6 after the first quarter. Powell used their defense to get back into the game and held Estill to only six points in the second quarter.

On offense, Matt Pelfrey scored six points in a row and the Pirates went to the half leading 21-20 over the Engineers. The defenses dominated the third quarter and Estill held a 32-31 advantage after the third quarter.

The Pirates and the Engineers were ready to battle down to the wire. The score was tied at 34-34 with 6:30 remaining in the game. Trey Marcum took over the offense for the Pirates hitting a three and after a steal by the Pirates hit another three and was fouled. Marcum hit the free throw and the Pirates lead was at seven points.

Powell's Trey Marcum drives for two of his 15 points against Estill last Friday. Powell won 53-47.

Powell began to get the ball inside to Zach Dennis and score. Estill battled back and kept the game close. Powell lead 50-44 with 1:10 to play. Powell turned the ball over and Estill hit a three pointer. The Pirates lead was cut to three points.

Austin Monnett drove to the basket and hit a floater and Matt Pelfrey hit one of two free throws to end the scoring in the game. Powell escaped with a 53-47 win over a scrappy Estill County team.

Powell was led in scoring by Dennis who scored 16 points, Marcum added 15 points and Pelfrey scored 10 points for the victorious Pirates. Powell is now 3-0 in district play and 5-2 overall.

Short staffed Lady Pirates hit a rocky road

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County Lady Pirates had a tough week as the end of the first half of the schedule draws near.

They fell to district foe Owsley County, 58-51 on the road. Then they rebounded to beat Lee County, another district opponent, 66-50.

But they ran into the 14th Region's top ranked Perry Central Lady Commodores. That ended with Powell being on the short end of the score, 71-34.

The Owsley County game started off the week last Monday. Powell and the Lady Owls played close, in a rough and tough game. The Lady Pirates held a 30-29 lead at the half. Powell continued that close lead as they entered the fourth quarter up by two, 43-41. But Powell's go-to player in the middle, Keeley Rogers fouled out and Powell was held to just eight points in the final frame as Owsley took the win, 58-51.

Rogers led Powell with 17 and Stephanie Knox added 10. Owsley was led by Peyton Wright with 18 points.

On Thursday Powell hosted the Lady Kats of Lee County. Powell jumped out to a 6-0 lead and held off an early charge by Lee. Powell held a slim 26-25 half-time lead. The second half saw a new fire burning for the Lady Pirates. Powell outscored Lee 40-25 in the second half to win easily, 66-50. Powell was led by Rogers with 28 points. Taylor Atkinson tossed in 16 and Nikki Wells poured in 12 points in the victory.

On Saturday, in a rare matinee game, the Lady Commodores of Perry Central cruised in and cruised back out after dominating the Lady Pirates. Powell's quickness and injuries problems were no match for the top ranked team in the 14th Region. For the first time in several years Powell was held to single digit scoring in each quarter.

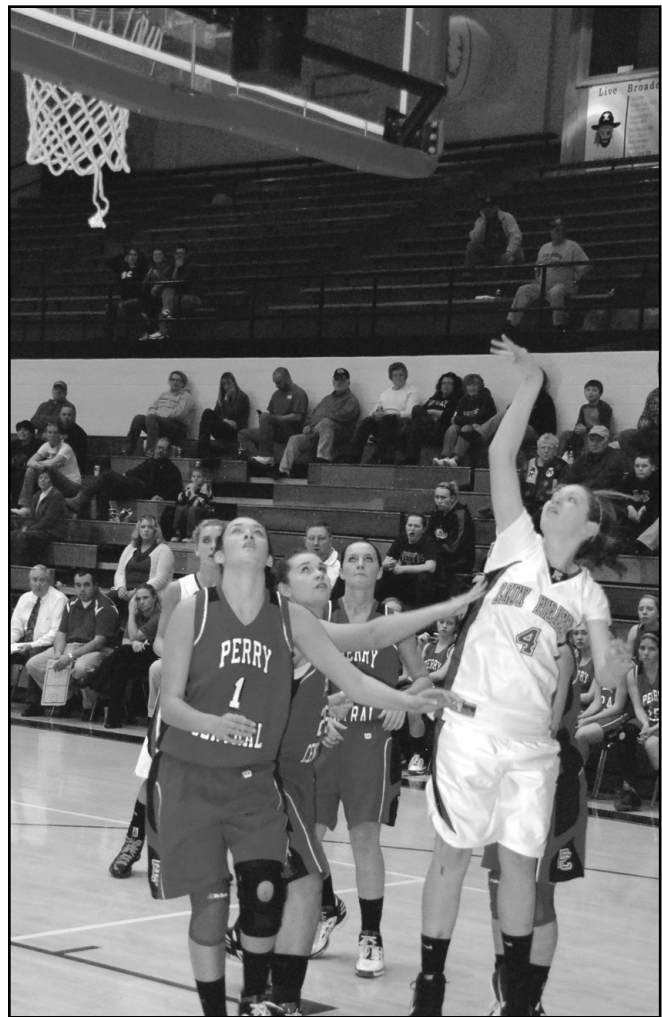

Perry Central jumped out to a 25-9 lead and never looked back. They won easily, 71-34. The Lady Commodores were led by Kayla Rankin with 26 points, while Kendall Noble tossed on 10. Powell was led by Rogers with 16 points. The next leading scorer for the Lady Pirates was Krista Estep. Estep came off the bench to score eight points and held her own in rebounding in the second half.

"Maybe with some of the illnesses over, the injuries healed, and the field trips over, we can have a more complete roster. Some of the younger players have been picking up some valuable experience, but it's been tough with as many as six varsity players out at a time," Powell Coach Ken Jones said. "(Destiny) Peck is questionable for this week's tournament, and (Lilly) Shelton and (Brittany) Black are out with an injury so some of the others will have to continue stepping up."

Powell is now 3-3 on the season and 1-1 in district play. They will travel to Fairview to play in the Days Inn Invitational.

School board sees first draft of PCHS plans, drops nurses agreement

By JAMES COOK
Times Editor

The Powell County School Board tackled some big issues at their December meeting last week. They decided to hire an architect to work on the designs for the additions and renovations coming to the Powell County High School. They also have decided to end their agreement with the health department when it comes to providing nurses.

The nurse issue was discussed late in the meeting but seemed to be one of the most important discussions of the evening. The school system had depended on the local health department in providing nurses for the schools. That was until last spring. At that time Kathy Neal, director of the Powell County Health Department, said that cuts made due to the state budget would make it not possible for the department to provide nurses.

The health department took care of the nurse's salaries, insurance and retirement. Neal also told the Times last March that "the state quit reimbursing the 20 percent for Medicaid they used to do last year, so that put us in a position that we had to pay it and it's part of our budget," Neal said. That would have been 35 percent of the department's budget according to Neal.

The cost for the nurses was $260,000 a year according to Neal. Former superintendent Evelyn Neely told the Times in March that the school system only paid for supplies, not the nurses.

The nurses were pulled out of the schools in late spring and at the beginning of this school year the district hired one full time nurse. The school system and health department had been working on an agreement that would provide a nurse two days a week from the department.

However, current superintendent Mike Tate and school system director of health services, Laura Young, do not believe the agreement was not beneficial to the school system. Now the school system is exercising their right in the agreement to notify the health department they will be pulling out.

"Mrs. Young and I have worked hard, Dr. Noss has worked hard to work on this partnership with the health department in using a nurse two days a week," Tate advised the board. "There have been a lot of disagreements about the records. I recommend we pull out, have Mrs. Young hire a couple of part-time nurses and try to revisit the partnership in the fall."

There was some discussion about a provision of the agreement that would have the school system pay $50,000 up front for the nurse from the health department. Board member Donald Curtis spoke up in his displeasure with the agreement. "This is disagreeable and the contract is impossible. What they're asking is ridiculous," Curtis stated in a determined voice. "It is not fair and not feasible as a school district paying for a nurse and she can't do what we need done."

Fellow board member Evelyn Faulkner also seemed dismayed with the nurse situation. First she asked if the school system could qualify for an Appalachian grant to help with the expense. Later she commented, "Is this a slap on the hand because we stepped out and got a nurse on our own?"

"She has never provided the services listed and I'd hope not," Young answered. Faulkner's question. "I'm asking your permission to notify the health department we are getting out of the contract."

"We wonder why there is such a cost. Wolfe County has about 1,000, maybe 1,100 students and three full-time nurses; the health department takes care of that. Estill County, a district comparable in size to us has three nurses, Rockcastle County has three nurses and in all these cases the schools pay nothing. They are provided by the health department," Tate added.

The board agreed unanimously to allow the district to exercise their right to give notice to pull out of the contract. "We will just have to hire a couple of part-time nurses to help us out," Tate said.

The board also got to look at the first draft of the plans for the additional classrooms, band and choral suite and room renovations at the high school. Last month the board voted to spend $3.5 million in restricted funds to make the necessary changes at the school.

John Cebert Gilbert of Ross and Tarrant, an architectural firm that works mostly on schools, was on hand as the board hired his firm to work up the plans. Gilbert told them that the first draft may change after getting more input from staff members.

The first plan has six classrooms being built, along with a corridor, two restrooms and the band/choral suite on the teacher's parking lot side of the building. The renovations would be to the 10 small classrooms in Corridor C. Those rooms would be made larger and each would have a door, which they do not have now.

Under this plan the band/choral suite would be nearly 2,600 square feet; the additional six classrooms would be 5,000 square feet; and the new corridor would be 3,000 square feet. The plan would have the renovations covering 7,700 square feet and there may be some work done on the bottom sections of bleachers in the gymnasium, so they would be more up to safety codes.

"This is just a rough draft and it may change," Gilbert told the board. "There would be some of the teacher's parking lot taken up by this, so we would have to look at doing some paving and parking changes as we progressed."

The architects will meet with staff in January 2012 to get more ideas and the plans could be approved by February. Following the necessary channels of filing documents with the state in April and the construction design approval hopefully in June, the approval of bids for the project could come next August. Work could possibly begin next September and be completed, without any major set backs, by late August or early September, 2013.

In other business:

- The board recognized the PCHS Cross Country Team for making the state cross country meet and winning their regional meet.

- The high school, migrant program, career and technology department, transportation department and community education all made presentations to the board.

Transportation director Earnie Smallwood also gave the board a breakdown of his department. "We drove 358,938 miles and used 44,249.8 gallons of diesel fuel," Smallwood said. "The average for bus mileage when it comes to fuel is 8.11 miles per gallon." The school system has 35 buses and currently runs 27 routes, but a new route was scheduled to start Dec. 13.

"I know its tough now, but when the budget allows, please look at the mechanics and bus drivers salaries," Smallwood asked the board. Reportedly, drivers have not had a raise in at least five years.

- The subject of naming the football field or complex after the late Jim Potts came up again. Athletic Director Monroe Jones is selecting a committee as the school board had advised him to do. The board charged Jones to have the committee decide if they wanted to name the stadium or the field house after Potts. Potts was directly involved with the money used to build both structures according to Jones.

Christmas in Powell County

Times Photos by Kayla Mays and James Cook
Christmastime in Powell County, like many other small towns, is filled with pageantry, decorations and helping others. This year, despite a slow economy, was no exception.

Above is the Knox residence in Rosslyn all lit up with lights and decorations. The picture only caught half of the display the family put out this year and it keeps growing every year.

On the left is a 12 foot Christmas tree that Karen Vires put up in her home this year. That is her daughter Abigail Johnson standing beside it, as Duncan the cat watches closely. Vires aid the bows are recycled from her daughter's recent wedding The fact that she likes to shop for bargains helped her to decorate this tree and including the price of the tree it only ran her $135.

On the right is another huge tree that is standing outside Blessings Floral Design in Stanton, beautifully decorated by Melinda Nolan Moore. The tree is believed to be 12 foot tall as well.

Below left are people that took part in the AmVets Post #67 Operation Christmas Smile last Sunday. Post Commander Ray Montgomery reported that 235 children received gifts and clothes thanks to the post and the many donations they received.

Below right are carolers from Bowen Elementary as they sang Christmas songs to people at the Senior Citizen's Center last week.

Here's hoping you have a Merry Christmas.

TRAIN: Dennis enjoys sharing his passion for trains

creeper, like you use to work under cars, under the tables so I can go under and fix anything if I need too," Dennis said.

On one end there are two bridges crossing over a lake. One bridge is for toy cars, the other for the train.

"The lake bottom is actually an old CarQuest sign and we have 34 goldfish in it," Dennis added. "It took some work to get that worked out. The rocks in the lake also came from the creek bed. My son helped me with getting the lake and bridges worked out because this is smaller than I usually have it."

Dennis said that the track, train set and display is probably about half of what he usually has set up at his entertainment building in Rosslyn. "I wanted to bring it out so the public could enjoy it and this seemed like a good place," he stated. "We've had people from Lexington who were in town come in and spend time looking at the display. They had lunch at Bruen's behind us and then came back over again."

Dennis said he has loved train sets and set them up for years. But he is also finding others who enjoy them as well.

"I've had people come in and offer to bring items to add to the display and some people have asked if we could set it up along the wall so it could be here all year," he added. "I'm not sure I want to commit to that just yet, but some have offered to help with that too."

The train set, which has six cars, an engine and caboose, and the village is set up in a square around the store's Christmas tree directly in the center of the Got It Made In Kentucky section. Dennis uses the section to help promote items made in the state and especially those made in Powell County. "Right now we have 90 vendors and 72 are from this county," he said with a smile. Many of those items are woodwork, jewelry, sewing and other hand made crafts.

"It is good to see people smile when they look at the train and all that is there. Some have told me they could sit and watch it for hours. I could too," Dennis admitted. "But it is good to see people smile when they see it."

Times Photos by James Cook

Merry Christmas and Happy New Year!

Once again it is Christmas time and all of the kiddies are trying their best to be good for a little while longer so Santa Claus will bring them some great toys. Many of them, not all, even wrote letters to the Jolly Old Elf.

Now thanks to some help from the Key Club members at the high school, we have been able to type up some of those letters and present them to you for your enjoyment.

Elementary school kids, grades K-3, were asked to send in a letter, many did, some may not have. We are now presenting to you those letters that we received. We tried to make sure everything was spelled correctly, but sometimes we older folks don't understand anything about the newer toys.

Of course, Santa always does. We at the Times hope that you and your family have a Very Merry Christmas!!!

So now sit back, relax and enjoy the 2011 Santa Letters
